The Freight Forwarders Forum will feature three panel sessions which will address current priority issues for the freight forwarding and logistics industry, including the COVID-19 crisis and lessons learned, how to achieve zero emission logistics in accordance with the EU's vision, as well as the role of digitalisation and how the industry can reap its benefits for more efficient operations. A detailed programme and more information will be published shortly. In the meantime, please save the date.

CLECAT's Freight Forwarders Forum takes place once a year, offering the freight forwarding and transport policy communities an occasion to discuss policy and business issues affecting the logistics, freight forwarding and customs services sector. The event combines high-level policy discussions between the policy makers and industry representatives with thought-provoking presentations.
